OUR MILLINERY DEPARTMENT

We desire to introduce to the purchasing public MME. MONNIER, from Paris, who has come to Los Angeles to take charge of our Millinery Department.

Mme. Monnier comes to us highly recommended as an artist in her profession, and we have no hesitancy in saying that nowhere can Hats or Bonnets be had more stylish, finer trimmed and elegant in appearance than in our Millinery Department.

We also save many dollars in the price of Hats. For instance: Milliners generally have no set rule about the price of a hat. One is trimmed; it looks pretty, and a guess is made whether it is marked $5 or $7.

OUR PLAN

Is you pay only what is put on the hat. You will notice that every hat has a ticket inside which is numbered. For instance: This hat is numbered No. 2709. We turn to our Trimming Book and find Hat No. 2709, and the following items appear on this page:

Hat - - - - - 75
3 ribbons, 20c - - - - - 50
1 buckle - - - - - 25
1 yard mill, 25c - - - - - 12
Lining and elastic - - - - - 10
Labor - - - - - 50
Total - - - - - $2.22 which is the price of the hat.

No guess work. You pay what the hat amounts to. Nothing more, nothing less. Now this hat may have the appearance of a higher price hat, and perhaps, without doubt, were we to add 50c or even $1 on the hat, many who are no judge would pay it. We invite the ladies to call and see our styles.

They Are the Newest,

Having been selected by our MR. D. A. HAMBURGER at New York, and consequently can show you styles, odd, pretty and new, which cannot be found elsewhere.

ENLARGED SHEET

To Advertisers.

The particular attention of the advertising patrons of the Times is called to the following points:

1. To avoid misunderstandings and cause for disputes, and to secure justice and uniformity in prizes, written contracts for advertising are desirable whenever practical, except in the case of transient advertisements, which are payable in advance.

2. Advertisers are requested to specify in every case the exact space their notices are to occupy and the length of time they are to run—whether a day, a week or a month, as the case may be. "It'll (ill forbid) advertisements will not however be taken.

3. On account of the pressure on our columns, and the mechanical and other objections involved, it has become impracticable to admit excessively large advertisements—those more than two columns in width—except in Sunday issues and extra sheets, when space is less restricted.

Los Angeles Building for All Time

There never was a time in the history of Los Angeles when real estate was so active as at present. The number of tracts which are being placed upon the market for distribution in this division is astonishing, even to those who witnessed the marvelous boom of a few years ago, when the first throbs of our new commercial and business life were felt, and the dawn of our present rapid advancement was ushered in.

The great body of the investment which is now being made are as yet made blindfold, nor are they as yet general theory for mere speculation. There are, to be sure, some gambling schemes on the boards, which have few merits and are amenable to the most deriding of critics; but the vast majority are made with due care, and, though the time is not yet ripe, the time is in the real-estate line here. The tracts now thrown upon the market are purchased largely by men of foresight and clear judgment, who look with a prophetic eye at our future, and see in it a field for rapid development for Los Angeles.

They have watched her progress, and studied her resources. They have taken cognizance of her commercial advantages and possibilities, and have noted the various manufacturing, industrial, agricultural and the like opportunities which may yet be developed, and the richness of her soil and the quality of her climate, all of which combine make up a sum total of advantages which is sufficient to powerfully attract to capital and the wealth of the nation. Capital has faith in us, and so it goes in search of investment here.

The conditions of life are attractive. Life here is one of stirring activity, of bold enterprise, and of prosperous development. It is a home upon the upside of the world, where all the signs of a great civilization are to be seen, and where every year of our progress adds to its grandeur.

The Musical Concert given in Wilshire Hall, last night, Miss Lillian Fellowes, Mrs. De Nola, and Mrs. and Mr. Stewart, a San Diego architect, is a "polish on a circle." A "polish within a circle," and the second "polish on a circle" is "Justitia."

The first was passed by as a joke, and the latter as a compliment to the musical efforts of the remaining seven sets as marionettes and built through their crucible to the right of the audience to determine which should be adopted, and which rejected.

The second, "Justitia," was passed by all the plans excepting that of "Within a circle," and "Justitia."

The third, "Lyra," was passed by all the members of the committee, and the remaining seven sets as marionettes and built through their crucible to the right of the audience to determine which should be adopted, and which rejected.

The musical concert, Trustee Washington, was a success, and the resolution given has given the selection to "Justitia," it is ordered that the plans of both "Justitia" and "A polish within a circle" be submitted to the Board of Supervisors for inspection.

Another resolution, submitted by the Board of Trustees, is as follows:

That the architects of the two plans be requested to appear before the County Board of Supervisors, and to submit their plans and arguments in favor of their respective plans.

It is ordered that the Ridgeon & Foss Architects, "Justitia," and J. M. Stewart, a San Diego architect, be appointed by the Board of Supervisors to inspect the two plans.

UNPREDICTED ARRIVAL.

Ordinary business transacted with East

Side Company to lay down pipes in the usual monotonous decorum of the Council had a somewhat sensational interruption, Saturday morning. Suddenly

Mr. Stearns moved to amend so as to make the duration of the franchise as short as possible. This was done, and after five minor alterations, the ordinance was passed, all voted yes but Messrs. Bradford and they being excused as stockholders.
